ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Falcon is authorized to announce F. J. McRee of the Eleventh District as a candidate for Representative from this county in the General Assembly of the next legislature of Tennessee, subject to the action of the democratic party.

For years we have been hearing of the terrible destruction to cotton in the southern states by the boll weevil and all agencies have been working together to get ready for his coming, most people realizing that his rapid march toward the northern limit of the cotton belt was steady and sure and that sooner or later he would cover every inch of cotton land in the south. That point has almost been met. In the local column this week is a local announcing the presence of the weevil in Fayette county. Not far to the north is the limit of cotton growing and Mr. Weevil has almost reached that limit. And yet we have not prepared for him. A score of years ago he invaded southern Texas and laid waste the rich lands of that section, making acres that were worth $100 drop to $5 and $10, and it was a drag on the market at that. Renters left by thousands and in many sections of prairie country as far as man's eye would reach was a barren waste of rich and productive fields reduced to idleness. It was a desolate sight. And just as sure as Fayette county fails to get ready to live from something besides cotton her lands will be reduced in the same way. The weevil is coming and his advance agent is now on the ground. We can get ready to

ELDERLY WOMEN SAFEGUARDED

Tell Others How They Were Carried Safely Through Change of Life.

Durand, Wis.—"I am the mother of fourteen children and I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I was 45 and had the Change of Life, a friend recommended it and it gave me such relief from my bad feelings that I took several bottles. I am now well and healthy and recommend your Compound to other ladies."

—Mrs. MARY RIDGWAY, Durand, Wis.
A Massachusetts Woman Writes: Blackstone, Mass.—"My troubles were from my age, and I felt awfully sick for three years. I had hot flashes often and frequently suffered from pains. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now am well."

—Mrs. FIERCE COURNAYER, Box 239, Blackstone, Mass.
Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness, should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried many women safely through this crisis.

planting clovers and winter grains this fall, planting corn, peas, potatoes, oats, clovers and other crops in variety next year, with a big garden filled with vegetables for the family, hogs for meat and lard, cattle for milk, butter and beef, chickens for meat and eggs, a good orchard for every home—by preparing to live at home on home-made foods. The Falcon family had visitors for dinner the day this is being written and had on our table eleven vegetables from the home garden, cooked with home-raised meat, home-raised bread, chicken, fruit, etc. If we do have to say it ourselves, we had a pretty good dinner and it was every particle grown on a few acres right in the edge of town, and if every farmer in Fayette county will provide the same things for his table he can snap his finger in the face of Mr. Weevil when he reaches his farm and go right along prosperous and happy. His lands will be made richer each year and more productive and Fayette county will blossom into one of the richest and best farming sections of the land. But bear in mind, the weevil is coming and we must get ready or suffer the consequences.

A news item in last week's edition of the Brownsville States-Graphic complains that Fayette and Tipton counties have not filled their agreement with the Memphis-to-Bristol Highway Association in the building of that thoroughfare thru their limits. Haywood county has completed the highway across that county from Tipton to Madison and the writer has traveled over it and it is a highway most creditable to the county. We are not able to say who is at fault for Fayette county's dereliction. Certain citizens of the route in this county selected agreed to do much work; if that route were chosen, the county court appropriated $10,000 to aid the work, and yet not a turn has been made to carry out the building of the highway. Very little of the county is concerned in this transaction as the highway crosses only a few miles of one corner, but in giving ten thousand dollars it would seem the county court had done all it could do.

By a determined stand and wise counsel to Congress President Wilson last week prevented a national disaster in securing the enactment of the Adamson 8-hour law for railway trainmen in the interstate business. That he was earnest and honest in his efforts for the public good, none will question. That the passage of the law in its present form is wise we seriously question. It amounts to an increase in wages for the highest paid men of equal intelligence and training in the world and sets a precedent of the right of Congress to fix the wage scale of workers a power we do not believe the court will sustain. All are glad a strike was averted, but unless steps are taken to curb ruptures between capital and organized labor such crises as we have just passed thru will be frequent and annoying.

Following what Trustee S. B. Reames promised when he made his first race for trustee, he is again publishing this week his annual report of the county finances. This report is a summary of the receipts of taxes and county revenue with sources of same and the funds to which apportioned and how spent. It is worth a careful perusal by every tax payer in Fayette county, for these funds belong to the tax payers and by examining the statement they can tell where the money goes.

When the rich lands of Wolf and Loosahatchie river bottoms are drained by drainage canals they will furnish this county with her richest and most productive lands. Many bottom fields this year have made nothing because it was too wet, but with suitable drainage canals these same lands and others not now cleared will be good every year and productive and the heavy rains will not injure them much, if any, more than they injure hill lands.

Some more Davidson county magistrates resigned last week in order to help unravel the tangle they have had up there because near relatives of members of the county court were employed in the public schools of the county.

FINEST POULTRY IN THE ENTIRE COUNTRY TO BE EXHIBITED AT THE TRI-STATE FAIR

More Than $3,000 In Cash Premiums Offered in Competition Open to the World

America's finest poultry will be sent to Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 24 to 30, to compete for more than $3,000 offered in cash prizes for the best specimens of domestic fowls at the poultry show of the Tri-State Fair, which will be given under the auspices of the Tri-State Poultry Association.

A new and thoroughly modern poultry building has been erected on the Tri-State Fair grounds this year. It is equipped with new coops to care for 4,000 specimens without doubling. The building is located centrally on the grounds, where thousands of fair patrons may inspect the fine poultry exhibited.

"Cash for Prizes" is the slogan of the Tri-State Poultry Association, which offers more cash in regular and special prizes than any other fall show in the country.

Three sweepstakes of $100 each are offered for the largest display of one variety exhibited by a bona fide breeder. These sweepstakes are open for the open classes, one for the fourteen Southern states, and one for Shelby County. In addition to these, more than $300 is offered in cash prizes for the best display from each of the fourteen Southern states.

The Tri-State Poultry Show will be the official American Poultry Association show for Tennessee. The A. P.

A. has offered its $30 gold medal, seven silver medals, diplomas and certificates of merit for the winners.

Clean competition is offered. The show is open to the world. Only bucksters are barred. Three of the best judges in the country have been engaged to remain throughout the show, and will instruct exhibitors on any phase of the poultry industry on which they desire information. The judges are E. C. Branch of Lees Summit, Mo.; Charles McClave of New London, Ohio, and J. C. Johnson of Springfield, Ill.

S. T. Campbell of Mansfield, Ohio, secretary of the American Poultry Association, will attend the Tri-State show, and will take part in the annual meeting of the Tennessee branch of the national association on the fair grounds.

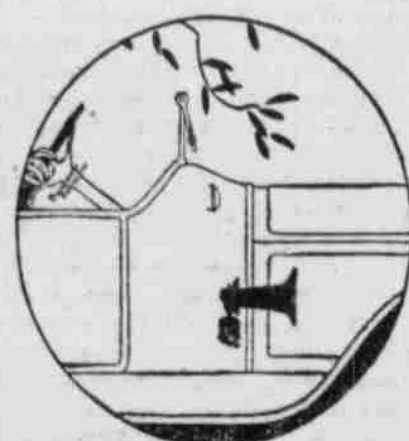

The Tri-State Poultry Association will give a banquet at Hotel Chisca during the week of the show for all visiting poultrymen and exhibitors. Mr. Campbell and the three judges will make short talks. It is planned by the association to make the banquet an annual affair.

No poultry show in the country ranks higher than the Tri-State. It is growing larger year after year, with indications that this will be the banner show. Entries close at midnight Saturday, September 18.

The law pronounces against making family affairs of the schools and in Davidson county they seem to have been strictly family matters, the justices instead of school board dictating the teachers in the public schools.

A Somerville farmer sold twelve bales of cotton Saturday to a local buyer for delivery as ginned at 16 cents per pound, which was about three times what was paid two years ago for the staple. At 16 cents and the price seed will likely bring an average bale of cotton will yield the farmer in round numbers $100, and the present crop would put this section in a most splendid condition and these are certainly prospects right now.

The Season's Local Cotton Market.

The cotton market now opening bids fair to be a lively one locally. The staple was sold at 15 1/2 cents per pound this week and the seed as high as $34 per ton. The former price is excellent, the latter not up to what is being paid in other towns, if we are to believe what the papers from those cities say about it. But it will be better. Besides the gins which will buy seed as in past years, The Falcon is informed that G. W. Locke, B. R. Dickinson and L. N. Carter will represent independent seed mills and the resulting competition will be strong enough to run the price to the top notch, guaranteeing farmers in this section the best prices the market affords for their seed.

In the cotton market, local merchants will buy, as usual, and F. H. Lightfoot, W. R. Reid, and one or two others will buy cotton, giving every assurance of keeping the price of the staple at the very top. The local market has always offered every possible opportunity for farmers to sell their cotton to the best advantage possible with its grade and the same will be offered this year.
